PREPARED BY AND FOR THE EMPLOYEES OF WALT DISNEY WORLD

MAY 7, 1976

Major new program launched... hotline established

PLAYING IT SAFE AT WALT DISNEY WORLD

See a potential safety hazard or one that needs immediate attention? Just dial the Safety Hotline, extension 5800, and you'll get action. Pictured here is Safety Department secretary Margie Berube setting the "wheels in motion" as she receives a call for assistance over the Hotline.

An accident is an unexpected occurrence or event. An accident is also an occurrence we want to prevent from taking place at Walt Disney World. And in order to do this, we are embarking on a new Safety Awareness Program . . . involving all cast members . . . and we want YOU to become involved!

Walt Disney World was designed and built to be an exciting and highly entertaining place for our guests to visit and employees to work. And to that end, every last detail . . . from our attractions to our transportation systems to our resorts . . . were created to not only entertain, but entertain safely. Walt Disney World was designed with the safest possible conditions throughout, but the most important element here is you!

Our new program has many faces to it. It's not just accident prevention, it's making every employee totally "aware" of his or her working environment, and providing you the means to insure that it is the safest possible place.

Jim Sullivan, Supervisor of the Safety Department and the new program's coordinator, explained to EYES & EARS that "Walt Disney World could hire a whole battalion of safety experts to roam the property looking for potential safety problems, or we can make safety awareness a part of every employee's job . . . the latter is the best way."

So that's what our new Safety Awareness Program is all about . . . educating every employee to be "aware" of what you are doing and the areas in which you are doing it, and to take personal action if you see a potential safety hazard or an existing safety problem.

And to enable you to take "immediate" action, the Safety Department has installed a Safety Hotline. Here's how it works: Let's say you see a safety hazard, either in an onstage area or backstage area. All you do is pick up any Company telephone and dial extension 5800 . . . the new Hotline number . . . and state your name and department (not required), what the safety hazard is, and where it is located. During the working day, a secretary will take down your report, and after-hours a tape recording machine will be on duty. Your report is then passed on to the proper department for immediate action.

The new Safety Hotline is especially geared for problems or hazards you may encounter in your normal working day, as well as coming to and from work. For instance, you may see a hole in the parking lot which someone could stumble in, perhaps a broken fence or other crowd control ob-

WALT DISNEY WORLD 1976 BLOOD BANK DRIVE

ARE YOU GOOD AT CATCHY PHRASES? IT COULD WIN YOU A LUXURIOUS WEEKEND AT LAKE BUENA VISTA!

Your wit, way with words, pun making abilities or creative thinking just might pay off for you . . . and pay off BIG! All you have to do is put the old thinker to work and come up with a catchy phrase, expression, sentence, figure of speech, euphemism, idiom, locution, maxim, or motto for our new Safety Awareness Program! That's right . . . if your catchy phrase is chosen as best, you will win:

- A weekend for two in one of our luxurious Lake Buena Vista Townhouses, including three days and two nights, as well as a golf cart for your use during your stay, and . . .
- Three complimentary dinners at the Buena Vista Club, and . . .
- A shopping spree worth $500 at Lake Buena Vista's Shopping Village
- And that's not all, there are plenty of little extras, all adding up to one fantastic weekend!

Now you ask, what do I have to do to enter the contest? Well, it's simple, just complete the phrase, "Professor Owl Says . . ." and add a catchy slogan dealing with some aspect of safety at Walt Disney World. That's all there is to it! Your slogan can be funny or serious, it's up to you. And it may be used on posters all over our property.

You may submit as many slogans as you want, and each will be judged separately. To enter, just type or print your suggestion on a sheet of paper and send through either intra-office mail or regular mail to the Safety Department. Or, drop it by their offices, located in MO-5 (top of stairwell 21 off Main Street).

The contest opens Monday, May 10, and closes Friday, May 21, at 5 pm. The winner will be announced Monday, May 24. So put your abilities at "phrase making" to work right away, and YOU could be the big winner!

While visiting with Jim Sullivan, he showed us an interesting method to relate to safety. He picked up a bottle filled with identical pills, and explained that the bottle contained 330 pills. Out of these, 300 pills were perfectly harmless. Another 29 would make you slightly sick if swallowed, but not seriously. And the last pill would make you deathly ill. He poured a quantity into his hand and said, "eat one." Of course we stepped back. Jim explained that these are the same statistics his department works with. Based on national statistics concerning accidents, out of every 330 potential accidents, 300 will never result in an accident. Another 29 will result in an accident, but without any injuries, and one will result in an accident with injuries. "The purpose of our new Safety Awareness Program is to undercut the national average as far as possible, to make Walt Disney World as accident free as we can," Jim stated.

ject, lights burnt out in an area requiring light, or a gate that doesn't close correctly. Whatever the hazard is, we hope that every cast member will take the initiative to report it. In addition, the Safety Department will get back to you within 48 hours with a report as to what is being done to remedy the hazard.

To assist the Safety Department, our divisions have established Divisional Safety Coordinators and Safety Committees. The Coordinator is a member of upper management and is charged with organizing and operating the division's safety program. Over the next few weeks, posters will be displayed in your area with committee members' names, so that you'll know who to contact if you have a suggestion as to a safety improvement, some new safety guard, etc.

Another important factor of the Safety Awareness Program is recognition of employees participating. And to that end, several special awards have been established:

• Individual Achievement - Individual cast members will be recognized in areas such as outstanding safety suggestions, safety acts such as saving a life, and longest consecutive number of work days without injury or accident.

Operated on a divisional basis, up to seven individuals will be recognized every month from throughout the Company. They will receive framed certificates, a special safety nametag pin, and (are you ready for this), the parking space of their choice for one month. That's right, they can choose any parking space on Walt Disney World property (as close to their work area as they like) and it will be reserved for them for an entire month.

• Group Achievement Recognition - Every three to six months, different divisions, departments and work areas will be recognized and receive a plaque for such achievements as best safety record and improvement in safety operation.

So that's a look at our new Safety Awareness Program. We hope that every employee will become active and participate. And you can do your part by first, working safely . . . don't take shortcuts that could endanger yourself or others. Second, report potential or existing safety hazards to your supervisor or Divisional Safety Committee member. (Don't forget the Safety Hotline for immediate problems). And last, think . . . look around you with safety in mind. See what you can do to make your area even more safe.

SAFETY...ONE OF OUR "CAN DO" DEPARTMENTS

Located above Main Street, U.S.A. adjacent to the Security Division, is one of our small, highly specialized departments which Walt Disney World could not exist without in today's business world. It's the Safety Department, a group of engineers and other specialists charged with two functions . . . to assist every division and department in maintaining the very safest working environment possible, and to make sure that we comply with all outside rules and regulations set down by government agencies on the federal, state, county and local level, including such agencies as OSHA, Consumer Protection Agency, Health Department, Environmental Protection Agency, etc.

But the very basic function of the Safety Department is to advise, to get in on the planning stages of every aspect of Walt Disney World and assure that safety is a key design factor.

We talked with Jim Sullivan, Safety Supervisor, for a more in-depth look at this important department. "We currently have eight Safety Engineers, two Sanitarians, and a licenser." Jim went on to point out that all of Walt Disney World is divided into a number of areas, with one or two of the Safety Department's personnel charged with each area.

Jim told us that Safety uses many methods of assuring a safe Walt Disney World. You may find the Engineers out in the field investigating safety problems . . . checking sound decibel levels, slippery floors, proper crowd control restraints, and the many other thousands of safety checks and devices we have here. Or a Sanitarian looking for harmful bacteria in our restaurant food preparation areas.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION . . .

But the most important safety device to them is preventative safety; the "designing in" of safety devices and functions prior to the attraction, restaurant, shop or the like ever being constructed. Jim said that his department works very closely with Planning & Industrial Engineering to assure safety is a "pre-thought," not an "after-thought." And they assist Purchasing, making sure that much of the equipment we utilize here meet our Disney standards of safety.

The Safety Department uses many techniques to prevent hazards. But accidents will happen, regardless of any company's expertise at avoiding them. As the old saying goes, "you should learn from your mistakes," so goes one technique of Safety. They collect and analyze every accident report at Walt Disney World, to find trouble spots, and prevent them from occurring again. In addition, Safety teaches numerous classes for employees working in specific areas.

We visited each of Safety Department's personnel to find out what areas they cover.

Jim Lence and Steve McHaney, both Safety Engineers, cover the Magic Kingdom, including all attractions, food, merchandise and maintenance areas, as well as the tunnels.

Operating a noise level meter in one of our maintenance locations is Jim Lence, Safety Engineer. Jim holds the meter near Ken Keeb's ear to test the decibel level of noise emitted by a machine he is operating. Ken works in Main Street Maintenance.

Frank Talarico, Safety Engineer, looks after our three resort hotels, transportation watercraft, and all areas out in front of our property such as the Toll Plaza and Ticket & Transportation Center.

Frank Talarico, Safety Engineer, inspects a microwave oven for radiation leakage. Frank's survey meter can detect the smallest amount of radiation being emitted through the oven's door. This is just one of the many safety checks our Safety Engineers conduct on our property.

Hoyt Van Buren, Safety Engineer, is charged with all of Fort Wilderness, Treasure Island, and the Administration Area, including Walt Disney Distribution Company and the World Communications Building. "Van" also has all of Lake Buena Vista.

Bernie Brislen, Safety Engineer, looks after the entire North Service Area, with all of its support facilities, and the City of Bay Lake.

Our two Sanitarians, Pete Korniluk and Mike Meredith, have our 89 Walt Disney World eating locations, both onstage and backstage. They make inspections, looking for such items as food protection, cleaning and sanitization, employee hygiene, house-keeping, insect control and waste disposal. In addition, they are the liaison between us and the Board of Health, and teach our Industrial Hygiene Program.

And finally is Ed Higby, in charge of all of our licensing. Ed explained that Walt Disney World currently holds approximately 375 individual licenses, permits and certificates, all of which are regulated by some 50 different governmental agencies . . . ranging from the federal level all the way down to the local level. And it's Ed's job to handle all the necessary forms and paper work to receive these licenses.

Many of the licenses are standard . . . Hotel & Restaurant Commission Food Service Licenses, Liquor Licenses (we hold 28 separate beverage licenses), Health Department Operating Licenses, and the like. Then they're some you don't normally think of, like state licenses for our barber shops and beauty shops, swimming pools and beaches. And finally, the exotic . . . federal licenses for importing explosive devices into the United States (i.e. fireworks for Fantasy in the Sky) and a federal license and inspection from both OSHA and the Alcohol, Tobacco & Firearms Department (part of the Treasury Department) for the bunker where we store our fireworks. And here's one for you, all of our Luau performers and Entertainment Division supervisors who handle black powder used in the Luau show have to have Blaster's Permits, again arranged by Ed.

Ed Higby usually finds his day ranging from applying for food and beverage licenses to fireworks permits. Lately, he has been getting set for the opening of River Country in Fort Wilderness.

So that's a quick look at our "Can Do" department. Why do we say "Can Do?" Because Safety is here to advise every division, department and work area on what they "can do," not what they "can't do." They'll just show you how to do it safely and how to comply with all existing rules and regulations.

HOTEL SHOPS HAVING SALE

The Contemporary Resort's fashion shops will be having a sale beginning Friday, May 7. Sale locations include:

- Contemporary Man - Leisure suits, slacks, sports coats, and shirts.
- Contemporary Woman - Pants suits and dresses.
- Fantasia Shop - Children's dresses.

HOW'S YOUR BLOOD PRESSURE?

Did you know that out of 200 million Americans, at least 20 million have high blood pressure? That means one in ten people are affected.

May is National Blood Pressure Month and in keeping with this theme, all Walt Disney World employees are encouraged to have their blood pressure checked at Central First Aid.

Our First Aid Department will check your pressure anytime between 1 pm and 3 pm this month. So take the time to stop by . . . it's painless and it's free.

WHAT IF YOU NEED BLOOD?

The Central Florida Blood Bank's mobile trailer has been here a week now and many cast members have "rolled up their sleeves" so far and donated a pint.

Now comes the question . . . what to do if you need blood? Gloria Jacobs, Manager of Personnel Services, explained that all Walt Disney World employees and their immediate family (whether or not they have donated blood) are members of the Central Florida blood bank. Blood may be credited to your account simply by calling Alice Hardee in First Aid at extension 4703, or Gloria Jacobs at extension 4736. Be sure and give them the following information:

- The number of pints of blood the patient needed,
- The name and relationship of the patient (if not an employee),
- The name of the hospital and dates the patient was there, and
- The name of the attending physician.

Then either Alice or Gloria will take care of the rest of the details.

LETTERS

Recently, EYES & EARS received a letter from a cast member asking why employees cannot fish in Bay Lake or Seven Seas Lagoon.

The answer is that both lakes are onstage areas and are maintained as part of our Walt Disney World show . . . which of course would not include fishing along banks by Disney employees.

However, all Disney cast members and their families are always welcome to fish at Little Lake Bryan (which just acquired five new row boats last week, renting for 50¢ an hour), or to join the Sportsmen's Association through Cast Activities. This cast club has exclusive fishing privileges at Lake Mabel, another backstage lake. In addition, members of the Sportsmen's Association have been allowed several times to fish the canals along the back southern side of our property on a limited basis to assist our Environmental Protection Department in surveying the fish there.

Sometimes you may see schools of fish under our docks on Bay Lake and Seven Lagoon, but that is not an indication of over-population, Kathy Shannon, Environmentalist, tells us. They only group there because people throw them food. In the open water there is no over-population problem.

The Disney University announced that it will be extending registration for our Continuing Education program. Registration has been extended through Thursday, May 13.
